

DESPITE ICE AND RAIN, GODDARD SCHOOL HAS A PARTY

Matthew Reichl • Wednesday, February 9th, 2011

GILBERTSVILLE – Despite the snow, ice and rain, The Goddard School® persevered.

The school's Community Games Day, open to the public, is a national promotion to involve Goddard School franchises in the community.

This gave area school children a chance to visit the school without having to be part of the student body.

"The goal is to get the community involved to demonstrate learning through play, each game has different education benefits," said coordinator and educator Liz DeGroff.

She said that while attendance was down, there was more than enough visitors, despite the weather.

The event featured Screwball, the Reading Phillies mascot and Mr. Mike of Makin' Music, as well as a charity collection for the Boyertown Salvation Army.

Matthew Reichl is the editor of The Boyertown Area Times. He can be reached by phone at 610-367-6041, ext. 640, via e-mail at mreichl@berksmontnews.com, Twitter at @boyertowntimes and Facebook at www.facebook.com/theboyertownareatimes.

Times photo by Matthew Reichl Above, everyone braving the bad weather to get to the Goddard School's Community Games Day on Saturday. With everyone in the photo is Screwball, the Reading Phillies mascot. Above right, two boys play Wii bowling out in the main room.