

FORT COLLINS COLORADOAN

THE FORECAST

Mostly cloudy;
rain showers

High today: 72
Low tonight: 53

MORE / PAGE C12

SUNDAY
JULY 4, 2010

www.coloradoan.com

A GANNETT NEWSPAPER

$1

The best in the city?

Fort Collins High School's Ben Marum is generating interest from college football programs. SPORTS / PAGE D1

Martinez family honors patriarch

Park bearing his name marks 25 years.

LOCAL / PAGE A3

5th Avenue Salon opens near CSU

By Coloradoan staff

> 5th Avenue Salon and Beauty Supplies is now open at 1205 W. Elizabeth St., Suite F, in Campus West.

The salon offers hair color, haircuts, keratin smoothing service, conditioning treatments and barbering and plans to add massage, makeup consultations and facials.

"My goal is to run a successful hair/skin and retail business that will be a leader in the industry in Northern Colorado," salon owner Maria Samaroo said in a statement, "... by providing quality customer care and service to nurture loyal clientele in a very relaxed and comfortable environment."

The salon will employ five people.

5th Avenue also welcomes new graduates for internship. The salon provides a low-pressure environment where new cosmetologists can learn to polish their abilities under professional guidance.

For more information, call (970) 484-2000 or visit www.FifthAvenue09.com.

> The Goddard School is looking at Northern Colorado as a place ripe for expansion.

As the largest preschool franchise in the country, The Goddard School has 17 locations in Colorado, including one in Fort Collins, and the corporation hopes to open up about three additional schools in the area this year, according to Joe Schumacher, vice president of franchise and chief executive officer.

The local success of The Goddard School at 6427 Carmichael St., owned by Terry Ann Ehrlich, has helped raise brand awareness and set the stage for the franchise's growth, Schumacher said. He estimated that the three schools could bring an investment of nearly $3 million to the area because it costs about $700,000 to outfit each school.

The corporation is based out of King of Prussia, Penn.